Grizzly Academy

STATEMENT OF INTENT

The intent of Calvary Chapel Christian School's Grizzly Academy Program is to support Christian parents in building a strong moral foundation based on scriptural principles, which will enable each child to meet the challenges and conflicts he will encounter in life. We are available to encourage, exhort, and affirm parents who are called to educate their children at home. We work with parents through teachers' in-services, curriculum guidance, and providing an accountability structure under which they are able to individualize instruction for each of their students.

Families registered in the Grizzly Academy come under an umbrella of support, accountability, and a current private school affidavit filed with Los Angeles County. We provide record keeping structure, student cumulative file maintenance, and help to facilitate social interaction and educational opportunities. We cannot guarantee anyone protection from harassment from legal authorities or from legal prosecution. Therefore, we highly recommend that our families join the Home School Legal Defense Association*.

SATELLITE CAMPUS STATEMENT OF INTENT

Education at home is a unique challenge. There will be times in the weeks and months ahead in which your intentions and goals, clearly defined and written down, will help keep you on task and give you the vision you need to finish what you have started. It is well worth the prayer, thought, time, and effort it will take for you to develop these statements now. You will need to review them often. Use the prompting phrases following numbers 1 and 2 to help you communicate your intentions for educating your child.

1. Our child's specific needs, problems, and life goals:

2. We inquired of the Lord in prayer and are convicted that He has shown us that educating at home can help meet our child's individual needs in the following ways:
